The Natural Bridge of the Sentinel Mesa

The Eastern Buttress & Lower Wash

Survey Note IX · The Western Abutment
«The bridge rests on a great shelf of red sandstone, older than any road.
The old cart track crosses its back and falls by natural terraces to the Lower Wash.»

Survey Note X · The Eastern Buttress
«The eastern pier rises 380 varas above the scree. Under the arch, deep fissures run toward the old cisterns. Cairn IV guards the southern mouth of the gorge.»