At the Gates of Tower II

The Sanctuary Servant & The Five Cairns of the Order

At the southern verge of the salt basin rise the monolithic walls of Tower II: The Sandstone Sanctuary.
Fluted columns carved from solid rock support a monumental archway sealed with bronze gates.
Under the shadow of the portico stands an elder in dust-stained ceremonial robes: The Sanctuary Servant.
He bars the threshold with an iron staff capped by an astronomical reticle, addressing the travelers:

> Decree of the Sanctuary Servant:
>
> «Five sacred Cairns were established by the Order to triangulate this desert realm.
> Thou hast found the First Seal (Cairn I) by following the dry wash; but four still sleep in stone.
> Without the seals of Cairn II, Cairn III, Cairn IV, and Cairn V, no mortal shall look upon The Oracle.
> Return to the sands. Prove thy survey true, or these bronze portals remain forever barred.»

The Five Geodetic Seal Sockets of the Threshold Archway:

Cairn I	Cairn II	Cairn III	Cairn IV	Cairn V
[ACQUIRED]	[MISSING]	[MISSING]	[MISSING]	[MISSING]
River Wash Hunch	The Sun Monolith	Sandstone Labyrinth	Canyon Sentry	Solar Altar Arch

Hermes clutches the stone seal of Cairn I extracted from the riverbed: his hunch had not been in vain.
To earn audience with The Oracle, Silvia and the Cartographer must now embark on the great geodetic circuit across the four quadrants of the Grand Desert Map, recovering each remaining seal in turn.
First Destination: North-northeast toward The Sun Monolith to unlock the Seal of Cairn II.
